Weekly Update

07/11/2025

Dear Parents and Carers,

Happy new half term!

Just a quick reminder: children should not bring toys into or before school. Any pupils who need fidgets or similar items will have these agreed through the SEND team. It might feel a little strict, but it really helps reduce the impact on our children when some have these items and others don't. Thank you for your support with this.

Anti-Bullying Week starts on Monday!

Bullying is something we take seriously, and we've got clear steps in place to support everyone involved if it happens. You can find all the details in our policy on our website.

Next week, we'll be joining in with Odd Socks Day Monday 10th November to celebrate this year's theme: "Power for Good". It's all about using what makes us unique to be kind and respectful, and standing together against bullying in every form.

It's also a busy week with Remembrance Day. Pupils may wear their Brownie, Rainbow, Squirrel, or Cub Scout uniforms. Children will be selling poppies, and we will observe a minute's silence together.

Finally, we have Children in Need on Friday 14th November. This year, children can wear comfy clothes to school—onesies (as long as they're practical for the day), pyjamas, or any cozy clothing. Donations will go directly to the Children in Need charity. Donate to BBC Children in Need

Thank you for helping us make these events meaningful for the children!
