Weekly Update

08/05/2026

We would like to apologise for a recent technical issue with the calendar on our school website. Our wonderful admin team have been regularly uploading events; however, we have discovered that some information has not been displaying correctly online. We're very sorry for any confusion this may have caused.

As a result, a planned reading event that was due to take place at the end of this half term has now been moved to Friday 10th July (and we appreciate that you may not even have known it was scheduled).

On Friday 10th July at 2:15pm, the day after our transition days, we will be holding The BIG Read. Parents are warmly invited to join their children for a relaxed outdoor reading event, with a picnic-style feel.

Closer to the time, we will ask for details about any siblings attending. This will help us make arrangements so that families can be reunited easily and collect all of their children from one place, before enjoying the event together outside.

Please put Friday 10th July at 2:15pm in your diary. We'll be in touch with further details nearer the time, and we very much hope you'll be able to join us for this special afternoon.

Today, the children were greeted by a rather unusual sight! Without any prior warning, staff arrived dressed head-to-toe in animal print to mark David Attenborough Birthday, in honour of the great man himself. From leopard spots to zebra stripes, it was quite the safari.

We gathered for an assembly to celebrate Sir David Attenborough 100th year and his remarkable contribution to our understanding of the natural world. As the realisation slowly dawned, the quote of the day was heard echoing around the hall:

"Why are you all dressed like cheetahs?"
